Frankly, collectivistic self-construction reeks of narcissism. The narcissist is fundamentally a person who has been damaged somehow, and the damage presents as an internal dearth of self-esteem. Now, a healthy self-concept allows one to examine this wound, deal with it, and heal.

The NPC Meme: Narcissism, Personality, and Collectivism ...

Narcissists have a very high sense of self importance. They tend to have an unreasonable amount of entitlement, coupled with selfish or greedy behaviour. Narcissists have a lower amount of empathy than the average person, which can cause them to act exploitatively and manipulatively towards other people.

In a collectivist society, the narcissist is 'God's gift to the collective'. Millon quotes Warren and Caponi's "The Role of Culture in the Development of Narcissistic Personality Disorders in America, Japan and Denmark":

Collective Narcissism - Narcissism, Culture, and Society ...

The effect on society was almost immediate: a culture of rising self-awareness had now grown to one of increasing narcissism, but in an unstable socio-economic climate. The collective psychology of Western society now became more dysfunctional, as an increasingly narcissistic society was unable to properly deal with a change in economic circumstances.
